WHERE IT'S ALL UP TO THE CLIMBER

NOT THE SAME MAN

To the Editor:—I am not the George Burnell concerned in an automobile accident on Turner Street on Wednesday night, as reported in the Thursday issue of The Victoria Times.

GEO. F. BURNELL,
902 Hampshire Road.

DANGEROUS CORNERS

To the Editor:—The above subject, mentioned in your Wednesday's issue, should be supplemented by attention being called to others still more dangerous. A veritable death-trap is to be seen on Lansdowne Road nearly opposite Normal School, where the road crosses Mount Tolmie Road and the B.C. Electric car line. Going west there is at the corner on the left side of the road a house with garden fence and shrubs completely blocking all chance of seeing if road is clear of street cars and autos. A sign-board reads "Slow" (no mention of street car line), but with protection is going slow on falling ground. I defy anyone in a car to go across the car lines slow enough to avoid a street car traveling north, if one should be passing.

Some negotiations with the owner of the house might result in the fence being cut away to give a clear view of the road. In New Westminster where the B.C. Electric Railway has a road crossing, there is a loose board on the track some fifty yards away, which starts a bell ringing and gives timely warning.

Opposite Foul Bay tram terminus is a pile of rock which makes this four-lane end corner completely blind. Surely our authorities could get the rock cut away so as to avoid accidents. Going south on Foul Bay Road at Chandler is another blind corner which needs attention—no "stop" sign. We owe it to our visitors to give them safe roads, and our Auto Club is at fault in not looking to matters like this.

SAFETY FIRST.

PHILANTHROPY

To the Editor:—Sir, the late Mr. Dolg's bequest to our provincial hospital brings to the writer's mind two others of like benevolence. That of the late Mr. Graves and also that of the late Mr. Kerr. One heaves a sigh though, that these large amounts are dedicated to general work. The writer feels that a line to our valuable press is not out of place just now (the case of another large-hearted philanthropist appearing) to bear in mind the special work which will give our poor unfortunate slight nerve cases a chance. Could not some large-hearted lady or gentleman some day make the appeal possible, that our Government at present does not see its way clear to do? That of establishing a nerve clinic and a psychiatric ward, making it possible for mental training to come into the curriculum of the general nurse. Also to give these patients all the chance possible before that devastating word "insane" is attached to their name. As months pass month police reports scarce ever give the record of ones and twos of these poor patients being confined in the city criminal jail cells. Having their reputable names entered side by side with that of the criminal, we feel constrained to ask, "How long shall these things remain thus?"

There is one other thing whereby a large-hearted person might memorialize his or her name. A short while ago the writer visited Wilkinson Road Institution. There she saw two ailing courtes, full of our hopeless negatives. Alas, some of them helped thereby by unintelligent treatment. Those who wished to sit down were sitting in the dirt. We ask, would it not be possible to provide decent fixtures for these, our unfortunate brothers? Would not such a work as this be as laudable as that of building beautiful places of worship? Would it not lift these men up mentally to be accorded decent seats?

NEW ZEALAND PLANS CHANGES FOR SAMOANS

Premier Tells Parliament Native Influence in Council to Be Enlarged

Wellington, N.Z., Sept. 7 (Canadian Press Cable via Reuters).—Opening the debate on the Samoan report in the House of Representatives to-day, the Prime Minister, Sir Joseph Ward, again voiced the Government's determination not to be coerced into toleration of open defiance of the law or into negotiating with any body of Samoans adopting such an attitude.

New Zealand administers the Samoan Islands under a mandate from the League of Nations. Colonel Stephen Allen is the present administrator of the islands. During the past two years there has been considerable unrest among the natives, mainly due to the activity of a faction desiring home rule.

COUNCIL CHANGES

The Prime Minister in his address declared a point had been reached beyond which the Government was unable to go. New Zealand taxpayers, he said, were not going to be asked to make an annual cash gift to Samoa equivalent to one-fifth of the whole expenditure of the territory while faced

SCORES KILLED BY TYPHOON

Manila, Sept. 6.—Known deaths from the typhoon of early this week increased to seventy-eight to-day with a report from Albay province that sixteen fatalities had been registered there. Several of the deaths were caused by landslides at Mayon volcano, where the earth had been loosened by rain.

Damage in Albay province was estimated at 300,000 pesos ($100,000) to crops and 100,000 pesos to roads and bridges.

The death toll by provinces as officially reported to-day was as follows: Albay 19, Bulacan 20, Camarines 3, Laguna 11 and Rizal 7. Eighteen others perished when the steamer Mayon sank in Ragay Gulf. The previous reports showed only eight deaths in the shipwreck. The report to-day, however, showed that in addition to eighteen dead, twelve were missing. Twenty-two were rescued.

THE TEAMS

As a result of the practice sessions the following teams were officially announced last night:

For Great Britain:
Flight Officer H. R. D. Waghorn, S-6.
Flight Lieutenant D. H. Greig with Supermarine Napier S-5.
Flight Officer R. L. R. Archerley with Supermarine S-6.
Reserve, Pilot Lieutenant G. H. Stainforth with a Gloster-Napier 6.
For Italy:
Warrant Officer Tomaso Dal Molin, flying a Macchi 52.
Lieutenant Rano Cadrigher with a Macchi 67.
Lieutenant Giovanni Monti with a Macchi 67.
In reserve, a Macchi 52 plane, with Major Argello and Captain Canavari as reserve pilots.

SPEED ESTIMATES

Estimates of the speed that will be attained in the race have gone up to 360, and even to 397 miles an hour. These have been based on tests, but whether such speed has actually been attained has been carefully concealed by both teams.

NEW AUDITOR OF PHILIPPINES TO VISIT VICTORIA

Bound For Manila, Maj.-Gen. C. C. Hammond Will Be Here Two Hours To-morrow

Major-General Creed C. Hammond, former chief of the Militia Bureau of the War Department of the United States and recently appointed auditor of the Philippines, will be in Victoria for two hours to-morrow afternoon aboard the American Mail liner President Grant, bound for Manila where he will take up his new position.

Major-General Hammond's appointment to the Manila post was announced last July by President Hoover. The former Militia Bureau chief began his military career as a volunteer during the Spanish-American War, served as a colonel of Coast Artillery during the World War and later entered the Oregon National Guard, his native state. He was educated at the University of Oregon and, between army connections, engaged in mercantile and banking interests in Eugene and Portland.

OTHER PASSENGERS

Among the other passengers aboard the Grant to-morrow will be J. J. Donovan, prominent lumber man of the north-west, connected with the firm of Bloedel-Donovan, on a business and pleasure trip to the Orient, accompanied by Mrs. Donovan. He will leave the ship at Yokohama.

Another prominent business man will be Frank H. Woods, president of the Lincoln Telephone Company of Lincoln, Nebraska, en route to Yokohama with Mrs. Woods. Mr. Woods is also connected with the Addressograph Corporation of the United States and is heavily interested in the Harris Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago.

On a business and pleasure trip to the Orient will be H. Van Streaten, president of Van Streaten & Harvey, well-known silk yarn manufacturers of Philadelphia. He is accompanied by his wife and daughter.

LEAGUE ASKED TO ASSIST ANY LAND ATTACK

Great applause broke forth from delegates and spectators when Mr. Henderson, in resonant tones which carried to the remotest corners of the hall, announced the British resolution also had the support of the German delegation.

TO STUDY PROGRESS

The resolution says the Tenth Assembly of the League of Nations notes with satisfaction the general adherence of states which are members of the League to the Paris pact, devised by former Secretary of State Kellogg and Premier Briand, which imposed on its signatories the renunciation of war as an instrument of national policy. It considers the Assembly should take account of the progress thus made and decide it desirable to examine Articles 12 and 15 of the covenant to determine whether it is

Gas in the Stomach Is Dangerous

Recommends Daily Use of Bismarck Magnesia to Overcome Trouble Caused by Acid Indigestion

Gas in the stomach accompanied by a full bloated feeling after eating is almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary dietetic aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get Bismarck Magnesia, a few ounces of Bismarck Magnesia and take a teaspoonful four times a day in a glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the acid and blots right out of the body, sweetens the stomach, neutralizes the excess acid and prevents its formation and thereby no more pain.

DOG WITHOUT TAIL TO BE BRED HERE

Distinctive Pedigreed Schipperke Brought to City By J. W. Benning Jr., Montreal

Distinctive, alert, black with the absence of tail, but without a tail. That is the "Schipperke," pedigree Dutch dog of hardy breed, a great favorite with children, knows how to give an alarm, and is beginning to attract widespread attention in Canada, having figured conspicuously of late in the important kennel shows of the East. It is bred extensively in Holland and Belgium and is a familiar canine along the Dutch canals and dykes.

Two pure-bred Schipperkes and a couple of Alsatians are owned by J. W. Benning Jr. of Montreal, who is at the Empress Hotel to-day with Mrs. Benning. The dogs are in charge of a keeper.

Three years have elapsed since Mr. and Mrs. Benning first saw Victoria. They have been here a number of times since then and have become so impressed with the equable climate and the beauty of the city that they returned on Sunday to remain for the winter and look around with the intention of settling out here.

Mr. Benning stated to-day that he planned eventually to purchase a small country estate near the city, where he would be able to grow fruit and breed dogs. Both Mr. and Mrs. Benning are enthusiastic dog fanciers.

FRUIT RANCH OWNER
Mr. Benning owns a fruit ranch at Penticton and he named his Montreal kennels after the Okanagan Valley city.

He comes from a pioneer Montreal family, his grandfather having resided there in 1814, while his father is the head of the Dominion Oilcloth Company, one of the largest manufacturers of oilcloth in the country. Members of the Benning family are also large stockholders of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Since arrival here Mr. and Mrs. Benning met and had dinner with Capt. R. W. McMurray, marine superintendent of the B.C. Coast Steamship Service or Vancouver, and Mrs. McMurray old friends.

PLANE RESCUERS RUSH TO DESERT WHERE MEN SEEN

UNABLE TO LAND
Tomlinson reported he was unable to find a landing place near the four men, and as his fuel was running low he thought best to return to Winslow immediately and dispatch aid to the four men.

He did not believe it would be possible to land a plane any nearer to the location than the Walpi mesa, some twenty-six miles distant from them.

The missing Transcontinental Air Transport plane City of San Francisco left Albuquerque, N.M., Tuesday forenoon with five passengers and a crew of three aboard. These were:

PASSENGERS
Mrs. Corina Raymond of Glendale, Cal.
Amasa B. McGaffey of Albuquerque, N.M.
William Livermore of Boston.
M. N. Campbell of Cincinnati.
William Henry Beers of New York.

larger vault accommodation has now led to the extension of the land registry vaults into the sheriff's office, where half the floor space was recently vacated for this purpose.

Dr. Arthur G. Price, former City Health Officer, condemned the accommodation for witnesses and jurors on his tour of inspection last year. Fire Marshal J. A. Thomas has uttered similar complaints in regard to the fire risk attendant on the old wooden quarters, with their heaping piles of papers and books.

At the last Assizes twelve Indian witnesses were seated on the floor of the appeal court room, waiting their call to the witness stand, while five women witnesses were shut for hours in a room hardly ten feet square.

Mixed juries were not contemplated at the time the courthouse was built, and no accommodation has been provided for such an emergency. Surrounded by buildings nearly as old as itself, the courthouse has become a dank and mouldy edifice, which no amount of heating and cleaning appears to affect.

At one time the pride of a newborn city, surrounded by the elite quarters of barristers and law chambers of another day, the courthouse is now reached by a remote side street.

Ottawa, Sept. 6.—Canada's trade during the twelve months ended July 31 last, according to the trade for the twelve-month period ended July 31, 1928, by $232,374,465.

The grand total of Canadian trade for the twelve months ended July 31 last was $2,577,000,277. For the corresponding period a year ago the total was $2,444,831,862.

The large total which represents the business done by Canadians with citizens of other countries during the twelve months just concluded was made up as follows:

Total imports for consumption $1,308,781,688.
Total exports of Canadian products $1,341,534,198.
Foreign exports $26,890,473.

Canada exported agricultural and vegetable products to the value of $595,917,316, as compared with a valuation of $587,180,230 in the preceding twelve months.

Agricultural imports were valued at $253,085,299.

BRITAIN IS TO CONTINUE WORK IN PALESTINE

Geneva, Sept. 6.—Foreign Minister Arthur Henderson of Great Britain declared before the Council of the League of Nations to-day that Great Britain had no intention of abandoning the mandate for Palestine. He said his country would adhere to the Balfour declaration, calling for the establishment of a national home for the Jews in Palestine.

The British now had the situation in the country well in hand, he said.

Among the morning's convictions were those of Nick Maloff and Dora Perchondoff, leaders of the faction, which in court was violent in denunciation of Canadian law.

At 11.30 the cases of three men and seven women had been disposed of, which, with the thirty-one men convicted, yesterday brought the total convictions up to that hour to forty-one.

All sentences have been postponed.

CANADA'S TRADE IN YEAR'S TIME SHOWS BIG GAIN

Ottawa, Sept. 6.—Canada's trade during the twelve months ended July 31 last, according to the trade for the twelve-month period ended July 31, 1928, by $232,374,465.

The grand total of Canadian trade for the twelve months ended July 31 last was $2,577,000,277. For the corresponding period a year ago the total was $2,444,831,862.

The large total which represents the business done by Canadians with citizens of other countries during the twelve months just concluded was made up as follows:

Total imports for consumption $1,308,781,688.
Total exports of Canadian products $1,341,534,198.
Foreign exports $26,890,473.

Canada exported agricultural and vegetable products to the value of $595,917,316, as compared with a valuation of $587,180,230 in the preceding twelve months.

Agricultural imports were valued at $253,085,299.

SASKATCHEWAN SOON TO HAVE NEW MINISTRY

Regina, Sept. 6 (Canadian Press)—Resignation of the Liberal Government of Saskatchewan will be placed in the hands of Lieut.-Governor H. W. Newell to-day following the motion of non-confidence carried in the Legislature early this morning by a vote of thirty-four to twenty-seven. The exact hour at which Premier J. G. Gardiner would go to Government House to tender his resignation, and those of his Ministers had not been set early this morning, but it was expected Dr. J. T. M. Anderson, Co-operative leader, would be called upon to form a new government before the end of the day.

Under agreement, the resignation of the defeated Premier was not to become effective until after a brief sitting of the Legislature this afternoon to consider relief measures for farmers and the question of the indemnity for the members.

MUCH EXCITEMENT
The dramatic proceedings of Wednesday and Thursday and the defeat of the administration on the floor of the Legislature in the early hours of this morning on a vote of want of confidence was unprecedented in Saskatchewan since its establishment as a province nearly a quarter of a century ago.

From the moment the Legislature was opened at 3 p.m. on Wednesday, the two parties, Liberals and Co-operatives, strove for mastery on the issue whether the Gardiner Government should remain in power. Storm followed storm, motions and amendments swept across the floor of the chamber, challenges and taunts were hurled by the contending sides, point after point of order was raised and heatedly debated, rounds of applause from supporters followed the remarks of the two leaders, and even the spectators in the galleries broke all parliamentary rules by joining in the applause.

TEST ON SPEAKERSHIP

Hardly had the session opened when the opposing parties joined issue on the right of the administration to govern. The first skirmish was on the Speakership, the Co-operatives, Conservatives, Progressives and Independents electing their nominee, J. F. Bryant, Conservative, over the Liberal nominee, H. M. Parker.

The closing hours preceding the vote were marked by a speech from Premier J. G. Gardiner, who directed his remarks largely to the Progressive group. Dr. Anderson did not address the House before the division.

Liberals and Progressives, the Premier declared, had similar principles, and the Progressives and Independents should weigh carefully their responsibility in putting the Government out of office. The vote would have far-reaching consequences on national as well as provincial questions. If a new Government were formed it would be "a Conservative Government," he said.

EXIT THE GARDINER GOVERNMENT.

PREMIER GARDINER'S GOVERNMENT was defeated in the Saskatchewan Legislature this morning by a vote of thirty-four to twenty-seven. Twenty-three Conservative members, five Progressives and six Independents joined forces and voted for the amendment to the Speech from the Throne, which afforded the test of strength. One Liberal, the member for Cumberland, was absent from the chamber, while the combined opposition did not need the vote of the Conservative Speaker.

Premier Gardiner was within his constitutional rights in meeting the Legislature. But he was under no delusion as to what the fate of his Government would be. It was made manifest to him and his following soon after the general elections of last June that he would have to face the hostility of the three other parties. In spite of this prospect, however, Mr. Gardiner preferred to wait and take the count in the House. Whether he was wise in so doing, whether he would not have added to his political prestige by bowing to the inevitable at that stage, is another matter.

What has taken place in the last few days does not alter the fact that once Mr. Gardiner had decided to meet the Legislature, it was just as well he did not resign immediately after the rebuff the Government received when its nominee for the Speakership was defeated. No Legislature is organized for business until a Speaker has been chosen and the Speech from the Throne is delivered; although, of course, Mr. Gardiner's right to resign at any time before that remained with him, a right which disappears as soon as disapproval is registered in a House legally organized.

There is another point which may be taken into consideration. The interval between the elections and the assembly of the Legislature has given the people of the province, and those who have constituted themselves the co-operative opposition, time to think matters over. And as one commentator points out, "a member who votes one Government out and another in accepts some very definite obligations towards the new Administration; he is bound to give it a very considerable measure of support, even if this involves some little swallowing of professions."

In this regard, incidentally, the Progressive members of the opposition may soon be called upon to show to what extent they will support an Administration headed by Dr. Anderson. Their early announcement that it would be of no use for either party to offer them Cabinet positions may undergo some modification when Mr. Gardiner's successor chooses his Ministry. The Independents have less to worry about. They would find refuge behind their label if it should be suggested that they have committed themselves.

At this stage, and in view of the uncertainty of the stand the Progressives might take under certain conditions, it is quite likely that before long the people of Saskatchewan will go to the polls again. For the time being, Liberal rule, which has lasted since the inception of Saskatchewan as a province in 1905, has come to an end.

If there is any disposition on the part of the Federal Conservative Party in Saskatchewan to take comfort out of the defeat of Mr. Gardiner's Government, it will be merely pursuing a will of the wisp. The people of that province voted against the Liberal Party on this occasion on a purely provincial issue. They considered the Government had been in office too long; they believed it was time for a change, and decided accordingly. But there is one thing that the voters of Saskatchewan will not do when Mr. Mackenzie King appeals to the country; they will not vote for a policy which would increase the cost of the implements which they require in their great agricultural industry. That is Mr. Bennett's policy. It is because the present Government at Ottawa has pursued a course which has been responsible for reducing the selling price of these implements of production that not a single member from Saskatchewan sits in the House of Commons as a supporter of Mr. Bennett.

GOLD—AND A POOR FARM

FEW NEWS STORIES IN RECENT months have been more interesting than the one telling how some 9,000 men and women who went to the Klondike in the great gold rush of '98 held a convention—a "sour-dough stampede" they called it—in Seattle the other day.

The reassembling of that army of one-time gold hunters provides food for considerable meditation. But there was one sentence in the news story that stood out above all the others. It read: "Among the delegates were sixteen grey-haired, bent old men who registered from the King County Poor Farm."

That one sentence could be used as the starting point for a novel, a long treatise on economic conditions or a dissertation on the whimsicality of the sardonic fates.

The thought of that group from the poor farm sticks in one's mind. It is tragic and fascinating. Thirty years ago those sixteen men were young and ambitious. They made their way to the fabled Klondike at a time when it seemed possible for any industrious, stout-hearted prospector to become a millionaire. The river beds and mountains of the hard Arctic region seemed fairly bursting with gold. Before the eyes of every one of these sixteen, beyond a doubt, there dangled a bright vision of future riches.

But the end, for each of them, was the poor farm. It would be hard to read of them without feeling pity for them. Yet it is possible that they do not need pity as much as we imagine.

They did not get the gold they went after, to be sure. But, after all, they had the experience of hunting for it. Life gave them intensity and complete experience. Before they went to the Klondike they lived humdrum, unexciting lives, and after they came back they met failure, bad luck, and slid into the poor farm; but for a short time they were among the fortunate ones of the earth.

There is more to that than you might think. For why, after all, do men go to the dark corners of the earth to join in gold rushes? To get rich? Partly; but that is not all of it. There is a challenge in things like the Klondike gold rush. The old pioneer saying—"the cowards never came, and the weak ones died along the way"—applied with great force to the trail of '98. The man who went to the Klondike, lived there amid its incredible rigors, and came out alive, had been tested as few men are tested. He had lived more intensely than his stay-at-home fellows would ever live in a century.

And that is the main thing. Men do not want riches nearly so much as they want intense living. These sixteen men from the poor farm had that, at least—and, having had it, are richer than many a man who looks on them with pity.

CANADA AND BRITISH GOODS

IN ANY COMPARISON OF THE TRADE exchange between Canada and the United Kingdom, and Canada and the United States, a number of factors should be taken into consideration. It is true that there is a vast difference between the merchandizing systems employed by Great Britain and those employed by the neighboring republic. Our neighbor makes a point of finding out what the Canadian consumers want, and then supplies it to them without argument.

Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas is asking Canadians to buy more goods from Great Britain because Great Britain makes large annual purchases from us. He sees in more Empire buying from the United Kingdom a partial solution for the unemployment problem. But Canadians will not be able to buy more British goods until they know more about what the British exporter has to sell. In addition to a more intensive advertising campaign, it would be necessary for the British manufacturer to study the Canadian market and cultivate it.

There is, however, another hindrance to greater Canadian imports from Great Britain. Although British goods do not have to scale such a high tariff wall as goods from foreign countries, the duties which have to be paid on them are still high enough to prohibit much that Canadian consumers otherwise would like to import. Hence, when our high tariff newspapers dwell upon the lack of enterprise on the part of the British exporter, telling him to advertise and foster the Canadian market, they are only suggesting part of the remedy. With the lowering of the duties, of course, the incentive for more aggressive salesmanship would be furnished.

THE "REDS" OF TORONTO

TORONTO AND THE COMMUNISTS AS a theme for editorial comment have been seized upon by dozens of Canadian newspapers. The Toronto Star led the parade by saying plainly that although too much attention had been paid by the authorities to a very few people whose one object in life is to attract attention to themselves by saying things in public to which 999 Canadians out of every 1,000 object.

Other Toronto papers took the view that the police did right in getting out in battle formation to see that the few "reds" got their deserts as soon as they opened their mouths. The majority of the Canadian journals, however, appear to side with The Star, agreeing that the British method of leaving these heads to blow off steam, more or less when they feel like it, pays best in the end. The Manitoba Free Press waxes very caustic on the subject, and says:

The performance puts Toronto on those levels which have made a certain hysterical type of United States city a byword in other countries and an embarrassment at home. . . . The course of the Police Commissioners in Toronto was a stupid one, as it attracted an importance to Communism which that peculiar exotic theory does not in the least deserve.

The Free Press then goes on to refer to the situation in Winnipeg as follows:

We have Communists in Winnipeg. We have a Communist alderman in the City Council. But we do not see our police on crowds in the parks because of that; and if our "Reds" have a bit of a parade and do a little stunts in Market Square, we yawn at the comedy; we do not call out the troops and elevate Communism to the dignity of a national crisis and get miles of bad publicity for the city cabled all over the world.

One thing to be borne in mind is that Canada is no more in danger from the spread of Communism than the North Pole is in danger of succumbing to a heat wave.

A BOW TO THE LAURENTIANS

Clifford H. Dowling in The Vancouver Star

To refer once again to things geological, it is the host of the people of Ottawa that the mountains about their city, namely the Laurentians, are the oldest structural formation in the world. As a visitor from the Rockies, standing in Ottawa and looking out towards those so-called mountains, I cannot but query as to whether age and insignificance are always so inseparable. These things are not mountains. They are not even respectable foothills. Yet they are very old, we are told, and consequently, I suppose, to be respected. They were mountains when the upstart Rockies were buried in the bed of the sea. They are almost as much older than the Rockies as are the little parliament capitol-pods older than the walls they are buffed into. Therefore, all this being so, I am ready to doff my hat respectfully to the age of the Laurentians at the same time as I am laughing at their insignificance. This, although, it may seem paradoxical, is correct, proper and as it should be, for I beg to submit that it is almost dangerous to be respectful to old age without taking into consideration its insignificance.

Loose Ends

New figures indicate a super race, bred of noise and congestion—but the unhygienic country still holds its own—while science examines the Mayas and their dental cavities.

By H. E. W.

AMAZING IS almost everything that happens in New York, but most amazing of all are the population statistics that have recently been compiled there. These, of course, show a huge gain in population, but that is not why they are important. They are important because they show that New York, with its crowded, rushing, noisy life is maintaining a higher excess of births over deaths than most of the other nineteen large cities which have been surveyed recently. The great metropolis, indeed, is renewing itself at a surprising rate, and if no outsiders ever went to live there it would grow at the rate of 50,000 people a year of its own natural vigor.

FOR EVERY 1,000 people in its population, these new figures show, New York has 6.02 more births than deaths. Washington, D.C., has an excess of only 3.18, Cincinnati, 3.49; Los Angeles, 3.50; Boston, 3.90; Milwaukee, 11.39; and Seattle only 2.63. In New York, therefore, life has a better chance of survival than in the smaller, supposedly more healthy cities.

OVER THIS science might ponder during its spare time and offer an explanation. Is it possible that America has bred a new race of people who require congestion, noise and grime for their well being? Who must be on the run during most of their waking hours and sleep within a few feet of millions of their kind? Does this unique species lose its vigor and fertility when removed from these hideously conditions and placed under relatively comfortable ones? Inured to a life so artificial that it gets its sunshine from patent ultra-violet ray lamps, does it require more generations to become inured to life as we live it here? Is life, then, healthier in a smoky subway and a two-roomed apartment than out under the stars? Is metropolitan living so far superior to the life of our ancestors that one touch of nature is fatal to it? Like birds which have been kept in cages for generations, have the people of New York reached such a state that they die outside of their prison?

JUST AS I was engaging in these soul-filling speculations came the answer to them. The answer is in the negative. City life is not breeding a race of supermen and health still is to be found in the country. Two eminent writers have been investigating this problem. They have been finding out whether it is true that you can no longer buy fresh eggs, milk and butter in the country because the cities have bought all these things at fancy prices. They have been trying to find out whether the scientific hygiene of the steel-and-concrete city school is superior to the germ-laden but happy little red school house of the wilderness. They have been trying to find out whether the disinfected tile swimming pool is any more healthy than the muddy old swimming hole.

IN THE August number of The Survey Graphic these investigators answer that the country wins. To support this verdict they present an impressive array of figures showing, in brief, that the death rate of the country on the whole is substantially lower than that of the city. Apparently all man's scientific knowledge, all his safeguards against disease, all his well-balanced diet, do not equal that health which is found in the country in direct defiance of every law of hygiene.

UNTO very recent times historians have been so busy reconstructing history of the old world that the civilizations of this continent, if they have not been overlooked in our public school history books, have been relegated to an obscure place. Maya civilization, of Yucatan, for instance, has only received adequate attention of late years, and investigators have been finding out many interesting things about it. An American expedition recently excavated in the ruins of the ancient city of Teotihuacan, which means "Mountain Cow," and its discoveries were illuminating to modern North Americans, who have the notion that civilization on this continent is exclusively a product of our own.

FROM THE vaulted chambers of Teotihuacan the investigators took many objects of scientific interest, which will help them to reconstruct the life of the cultured Mayas, but to ordinary minds two minor discoveries were the most intriguing. In one chamber, where a jaguar had made its lair, and incidentally, broken many fine pieces of pottery, they found a human skull. On examining it carefully, they saw that some of its teeth had been filed to fine points and in other holes had been drilled and filled with iron pyrites precisely as a modern dentist would fill them with gold or silver—the first record of dentistry in America where this practice is now almost a religion.

NEXT, THE investigators found deep in the earth a large pottery vessel in which was another smaller bowl containing a number of shells, a few small pieces of jade and worked shell and small squares of highly-polished iron pyrites which evidently had formed a mirror with a pottery back.

GREAT WAS the amazement and delight of the excavators, for they had uncovered one of the great secrets of the Maya race. Before that, they said, it had always been thought that the Mayas, at this period at least, used no mirrors, and went through life cheerfully because they never saw themselves as others saw them. Now it appears that the mirror played as important a part in their lives as it does in the life of every twentieth century flapper. And altogether it is becoming clear that with small exterior changes we have only produced in our time a civilization which flourished long before Europe knew of America's existence. In one respect, at least, we have not improved it; for while like them we also fill our teeth, we have far more teeth that have to be filled, because we do not live as sensibly as the simple old-time Mayas.

Seattle Writer Gives Address To Local Authors

As "an ambassador of good will" and interpreter of the aims and objects of the League of Western Writers, Mrs. Muriel Wamaker, of Seattle, appeared at a meeting of the writing craft of Victoria in the theatre of the B.C. Dramatic School last evening, for the purpose of discussing the problems of western writers, whose market for the most part lies with publishers and editors in the east and in England.

Mrs. Wamaker spoke at length upon questions of interest to the writing profession. Alfred Carmichael, president of the Victoria and Islands Branch, Canadian Authors Association, who was in the chair, thanked Mrs. Wamaker for her address, which invited discussion on many points. Dr. J. K. Unsworth moved the vote of thanks. Mr. Carmichael contributed further helpful suggestions to the discussion, and Donald A. Fraser, Mrs. Ebbes-Cavanah, Mrs. J. R. Angus and Mrs. Rathbone also spoke briefly. Mrs. Wamaker, who is a recognized writer of charming verse and short stories with a southern setting, tendered an invitation from Col. Hofer, president of the League of Western Writers, to attend the convention to be held in San Francisco on October 18 to 19, and which has been purposely delayed to allow of the eastern publishers being present.

Local Council—The regular monthly meeting of the Local Council of Women will be held on the top floor of the Campbell Building on Monday at 2.30 o'clock.

MARRIED IN SOUTH

MRS. CHAS. HENRY DAVIES (NEE ACTON)

Many Victoria friends of the bride will be interested to hear of the marriage in San Francisco, on August 26, of Miss Olive Jean Acton, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Acton of San Francisco, formerly of Niagara Street, Victoria, to Mr. Charles Henry Davies, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Davies of Hollywood, California. The ceremony took place at the Church of the Advent, Father Otis officiating. After an informal reception at the home of the bride's parents, at which only the immediate relatives and close friends of both parties were present, Mr. and Mrs. Davies left for an extensive motor tour through the middle states. Upon their return they will temporarily reside in San Francisco, intending to make their permanent home in Hollywood.

MANY GIFTS TO POUND PARTY

About one hundred and fifty friends of the institution called at the W.C. T.U. Home for Friendless Girls on Ida Street yesterday afternoon on the occasion of the annual pound party and left tangible evidence of their interest in the shape of many generous donations. The cash donations alone amounted to about $80, and were supplemented by many gifts of groceries, fruit, vegetables and other additions to the larder.

Mrs. David Spencer, the president of the Home since its inception, Mrs. Wm. Grant, Mrs. C. C. Spottford, Mrs. Saunby, Mrs. F. W. Leung, Mrs. O. M. Brown and Mrs. James Hood comprised a reception committee and welcomed the many guests as they arrived. Mrs. W. H. Gee and Mrs. Gill received the donations, and the matron, Miss Bella Campbell, conducted the visitors over the light, airy and well-kept premises. Mrs. Agnes Spencer, assisted by Mrs. Ward, the assistant matron, and Miss Thompson presided at the dainty tea table, which was centred with dahlias and roses.

YOUR BABY and MINE by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRID

Mrs. Eldrid will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

BABIES REFUSE TO LIE DOWN WHEN ABLE TO SIT UP

A mother can't be kept from pushing the development of her babies. Take the matter of sitting up. She wonders from the time the baby is three months old how soon she can prop him up with pillows. She feels that she must do this in order to give him a lesson in sitting up. Or she may go to the opposite extreme and insist on baby lying flat on his back even when he is so strong and healthy that given even one finger he will make the most heroic efforts to sit up.

Mothers need to keep in mind that babies come into the world equipped to sit up when they have been fed so as to develop normally. In fact, nothing short of straps will hold them down. They strain and pull, holding on to the sides of their buggies or cribs, they clutch at hands or dresses and try to pull themselves up. This stage arrives with the healthy baby at four or five months though he is not always able to support his back, without tumbling over, until about six months of age. After that he can sit as straight as a poker without a thing to support him.

There is never a time, at any age, when it seems advisable to prop up a baby with pillows. The desire to do this is born in the adult because she imagines the baby must just love to do this. It isn't the desire to look around him that motivates a baby in wanting to sit up. It is the sensation it gives his muscles. Muscles have a desire to be active, just as nerves have a desire to act. Baby gets a distinctly pleasurable sensation from sitting up and he begins to try his luck at this from the day when his mother turns him over on her knee and he lifts his heavy head. That is the first exercise which later will result in his ability to hold his back straight without support.

As soon as he shows that he has the strength to sit alone he should be given some exercise in this direction. Let him hold your hands and pull himself up and sit on the bed a few moments. Let him sit erect on someone's lap. Then at the first sign of fatigue he can lie down flat instead of being compelled to keep on sitting up, as would happen if his back were padded out with pillows.

If it is long past the time when he should be sitting erect and baby is still unable to accomplish this, the fault lies in his food. He needs a change of diet, one that will provide him with the bone making materials that are obviously lacking.

Mrs. Eldrid has prepared a leaflet on "Normal Physical and Mental Development From Birth to One Year" which she will send to any reader who encloses a self-addressed, stamped envelope with a request for it, mailed to Myrtle Meyer Eldrid, in care of the Your Baby and Mine department of this newspaper.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

Miracles of Sport

By Robert Edgren

ANOTHER Canadian championship has passed into the hands of the East. On Wednesday the General Motors lacrosse team from Oshawa took the New Westminster Salmonbellies, western titleholders, into camp 2-1 in the second game of the best two out of three series. The Easterners won the first fixture 9-5. This was no doubt a serious blow to the Royal City representatives, as they had confidently anticipated regaining the title they relinquished last year, when they traveled to the Olympic games at Amsterdam failing to defend their championship.

New Westminster has been regarded as the home of lacrosse. In the old days of the Minto Cup, which was contested for by professional teams, and recognized as the premier lacrosse trophy in the world, New Westminster boasted one of the strongest outfits in Canada. However, on the strength of the two games this week between the Royals and Oshawa, it appears the east is taking the game seriously and has developed high class material. In past years the west, for the most part, has dominated lacrosse in Canada, but now those days have vanished. Even the Prairie cities boast a number of fairly strong clubs.

One of the main topics discussed at the annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Lacrosse Association held in New Westminster this week was ways and means of bolstering up Canada's national game. They even went to the extent of passing a motion that the Premier of Canada be asked to make a yearly grant of $5,000 towards reviving the game. As one Vancouver sports editor points out it would be far better, in the interests of the game, if these heads who handle the business of the A.A.U. were to give all former pro lacrosse players clean bills of health.

It hardly seems fair that several of the former pros should be reinstated and others left on the shelf, the majority of whom were mighty fine lacrosse players. Some years ago the amateur lacrosse was reinstated the two Patches, George Feeney and Hattie Stoddard, all of New Westminster, while the applications of half a dozen others were ignored. If certain pros can be taken back into the ranks of the Simon Fraser, why not give them all back their cards? This would help the game more than anything else.

The suspension of Omer Alexander by the management of the St. Louis Cardinals for violation of training rules probably foreshadows the passing of a veteran pitching star from the big league scene. When Alexander turned from Philadelphia recently, Manager Bill McKechnie handed him a ticket home to St. Louis. Fans all over the circuit will be sorry to see "Old Pete" in this predicament, but he had fair warning. In that same city of Philadelphia the late Pat Moran, veteran pitcher eighteen years ago, said that if he did not curb his habits they would cut short his career as a big leaguer.

Broadcasting an umpire's decisions in a baseball game is the latest innovation to be introduced in the major leagues. Charles "Cy" Rigler was the announcer of the recent game between the N.Y. Giants and Pittsburgh at the Polo Grounds. Rigler's spikes on his baseball shoes were attached to a wire, inside of his belt, and to his mask. At the bottom of his mask was a "micro." Behind the plate was a sheet of metal. This metal was hooked up to his belt and under the ground and attached to big amplifiers throughout the stands. Cy was both the announcer and umpire-in-chief. The umpire's voice came over the amplifiers distinctly and he made a big hit with the fans.

A broken nose is an umpire of John A. Heyder, president of the National League. Heyder was employed in a newspaper and played on the team. One day, sliding into third base on a close play the catcher's throw caught John full on the nose. While he was called on to umpire from the injury, Heyder turned to umpiring after moving to Washington, D.C., and one day when the regular league umpire was refusing, he was called on to umpire. He gave satisfaction and got a regular job.

There are more than a million moves possible in checkers, writes Newell Banks, the checker champ. That's nothing. There are more moves than that in golf, not even counting the right ones.

Boxing used to be a fairly stable game. It still is somewhat mindful of the stable, of course, but it's a lot more athletic since Gene Tunney introduced all those moves at Philadelphia and Chicago.

Poker is characterized by a number of odd moves. Once upon a time a gent took three Aces out of his cuff as Bozeman, Mont., but the customers didn't seem to favor it so much, so he hasn't made a move since, good, bad or indifferent.

There are legends of curious moves in baseball, as well. That one the umpire makes in the paddy wagon is regarded as the demerit cry.

English Girl Fails In Channel Attempt

Boulogne, France, Sept. 6.—Connie Gilhead, an English girl, came within a mile and a half of swimming the English Channel yesterday. She was still going strong when she was taken from the water at 9:30, but her manager induced her to quit on the ground that she could not better the record established by Gertrude Ederle. The start was made from Cape Gris Nez yesterday morning.

CRUCIAL GAME IS SCHEDULED

Five C's and Albions Meet To-morrow in Final League Cricket Match

In the final match of the season the Five C's and Albions, Victoria and District League cricket teams, will meet to-morrow afternoon at Bescon Hill, starting at 2:30 o'clock. Considerable importance is attached to the match as a victory for the C's will give them the championship of the second half of the league. Should the Albions win a three-cornered tie between them the Five C's and Inco's will be created. Five C's and Inco's tied for the honors in the first half of the schedule.

The Five C's team for to-morrow follows: Edwards, Attwell, Pendray, Halkett, J. and G. Payne, Galt, Eden and Eric Quinlan, Comley and Percy Payne. Umpire, R. H. Barker; scorer, Jesse Longfield.

D.F.A. Convention To Be Held Here

Montreal, Sept. 6.—Victoria, B.C., was chosen as the venue of the new Dominion Football Association convention at the final session yesterday.

COLWOOD WILL MEET OVERLAKE

Golf Teams to Play Here Sunday in First Half of Inter-club Match

Colwood golfers will be hosts to a team from the Overlake Golf Club, Seattle, on Sunday, in the first half of their annual interclub match. Twenty players from each club will take part in the event. Colwood have lined up all their star players and are confident of gaining a good edge on the Sound City club. Harold Lindeham and Walter Hall, two of the local club's best players, will oppose Harold Niemeyer and Pascoe respectively.

One point will be given for the singles in the morning and two for the fourfours in the afternoon. The draw with the Seattle players first named, follows:

10:00—Niemeyer and Pascoe vs. Lindeham and W. K. Hall.
10:15—Knudson and Jamieson vs. Thomas and Edmonds.
10:30—Baker and Rideout vs. Terry and Allan.
9:35—Duthie and Farrer vs. Milbank and Gray.
12:10—Flemming and Burke vs. Simpson and Richardson.
9:50—Clapp and Clark vs. McPherson and Bines.
9:55—Freeman and Macdonald vs. Hodges and Stevens.
9:45—Shank and Morris vs. Leeming and H. Brown.
9:40—Eddy and Relach vs. G. H. Haynes and Denham.
9:30—Smith and Bowden vs. Leach and Perry.

Uplands Women Play To-morrow In Medal Round

Twenty women members of the Uplands Golf Club will take part to-morrow in the monthly medal competition. The draw follows:

Mrs. Semple and Mrs. Jackson.
Mrs. Eve and Mrs. Wilding.
Mrs. Watson and Mrs. K. Fraser.
Mrs. Rotherham and Miss Done.
Miss Mills and Mrs. Poulis.
Miss Grant and Mrs. Prescott.
Cobb and Mrs. Hargreaves.
Mrs. Turnbull and Mrs. Hope.
Mrs. Cameron and Mrs. Ellis.
Mrs. Spencer and another.

Good Matches Expected In O.C. Football

London, Sept. 6.—After a week of tough practice and games, English soccer football teams will stage a number of interesting encounters on Saturday. Feature games will be Derby County's visit to Bolton Wanderers and Arsenal's trip to Sheffield Wednesday. Everton and Liverpool engage in a local derby at the latter's grounds. In the Second Division, the two Nottingham clubs will try conclusions. In the Scottish league a fine match is on the card, Hearts and Motherwell.

Capitals Leave For Vancouver to Play Indians in Finals

In quest of their second successive British Columbia Senior "B" baseball championship the Victoria Capitals, champions of the Vancouver Island Baseball League, will leave for Vancouver to-night to oppose the Squamish Indians, Mainland titleholders, in the first game of the finals at the Athletic Park to-morrow afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. The second game of the series will be played in New Westminster on Sunday, and if a third is necessary it will be played here.

The Capitals will take their complete roster of players and will make a great effort to take the Indians into camp. Norm Forbes, the Caps' first-string hurler, will go to the mound to-morrow with Dangerfield, the selection for Sunday.

The Capitals and Indians played in two exhibition games here during the season, the local team winning the first encounter, while the second ended in a tie.

"Y" Announces Classes For Winter Season

At a meeting of the committee of physical education at the Y.M.C.A. last night, presided over by H. B. Witter, the following dates were announced for the opening.

Boys' classes will commence on September 16. Senior section will start its activities on September 22. The swimming pool has been renovated and painted and locker rooms and passage ways redecorated. The apparatus and equipment is being carefully gone over by a group of senior leaders and any necessary repairs are being made.

YOUTH IS BEATEN IN U.S. GOLF

Seasoned Veterans of Many Campaigns Will Fight For Places In Finals

Average Age of Semi-finalists is Forty; Dr. Willing Playing Great Golf

(By Alan Gould, Associated Press Sports Editor)
Pebble Beach, Cal., Sept. 6.—Youth has had its fling in the U.S. amateur golf championship of 1929. The battle of Pebble Beach, in its semi-final stage today, brought together four of the most seasoned of U.S. campaigners and it was still a wide open fight among them for the crown that a youthful spurge knocked from the sandy head of Bobby Jones.

After brilliant third-round triumphs, this quartet of stars went out this morning with Dr. Oscar F. Willing, of Portland, meeting a fellow Oregonian, Henry Chandler Egan, champion of 1904 and 1905, in the first thirty-six-hole match, and Harrison R. (Jimmy) Johnston of St. Paul, veteran tournament fighter of a decade, opposed to Francis Ouimet of Boston, amateur champion in 1914 and open champion in 1915.

The chances of all four have thinned or grown, with the exception of Johnston, whose youthful appearance belies the fact that he is well over thirty, and a match player of long experience.

Egan, titleholder twenty-five years ago when a student at Harvard, is back in the limelight—at the age of forty-five, a semi-finalist for the first time since 1909.

Willing, nearly bald and forty, has campaigned at home and abroad with distinction.

Ouimet, long one of the game's foremost figures, is around thirty-five. In the person of Johnny Goodman of Omaha, took the scalp of ex-champion Jones.

In William Lawson Little Jr. it cut a swath through the tournament that was finally checked only by the great finish of Ouimet.

To-day, however, there were four semi-finalists averaging close to forty years old to demonstrate that experience still cuts a substantial figure.

This was the sixth time in ten years that Ouimet has reached the semi-finals, with Egan back in that bracket for the first time in twenty years, but he was a brand new experience for both Johnston and Willing. Johnston has won the western amateur crown, out some figure in the open championships, notably in 1927 at Oakland, but he never before has gone beyond the third round. Neither has Willing, whose performances in Walker Cup and other competition nevertheless have stamped him as one of the foremost of amateur match players.

Four Seasoned Veterans Meet In Semi-finals

Dr. O. F. Willing and Henry Chandler Egan, Both of Portland, Pitted Against Each Other, While Francis Ouimet, Boston, Meets Harrison (Jimmy) Johnston, St. Paul; Willing Shows Skill to Defeat Cyril Tolley, British Champ.

By ROBERT EDGREN

Pebble Beach, Sept. 6.—The old guard came through to-day in the U.S. amateur golf championship to reduce the ranks of the dope upsetting youth. Chandler Egan, amateur champion twenty-five years ago, kept up his string of decisive victories by eliminating Jess Sweetser, 6-5. He had previously eliminated Von Elm, 2-1, and his old rival, Rudie Wilhelm, 7-5. Dr. O. F. Willing, a fellow Oregonian, played his neat and crisp game steadily enough to defeat the erratic Britisher, Cyril Tolley, 4-3.

The closest match of the day was Johnston vs. Voigt. At the end of the first eighteen Voigt was one up, and apparently playing steadier golf. Johnston caught up with him, passed him on the thirty-fourth, and halved the next four holes in a row before winning on the thirty-ninth. Voigt and Johnston are two fine players whose game is almost identical. Neither are long hitters, but both are crack shots around the pin.

GREAT EXHIBITION
The gallery following the Ouimet-Little match were treated to a rare exhibition of fighting golf as Little came up to the thirty-sixth one down. He hit a long drive, while Ouimet was trapped on the right, about thirty-eight yards from the hole.

Ouimet made the gallery, which was pulling for young Little, see up to a whizzing iron out of the sand. Little shook his head, clamped an iron grip on his brassie, and hit the longest second shot ever seen on the eighteenth hole, which left him twenty yards short of the green.

Ouimet, like a steady veteran, gritted his teeth and put a beautiful brassie through the small openings between the traps and the sea up to within twenty feet of the pin.

Little walked upon the green, went back, laid his approach two feet from the cup.

Ouimet spotted his ball into the hole, while the crowd was still cheering for Little, smiled, and shook hands with the young loser.

ANCIENT RIVALS
Dr. Willing and Chandler Egan, who meet to-day, are members of the same club in Portland. They are ancient rivals, and each is thoroughly familiar with the other's game. Willing is the younger and stronger looking, and they last through the thirty-six holes in better shape.

Tolley stole the gallery's heart with a shot out of a trap on the chasm eighth, as his ball rolled up to the cup and just turned aside. Dr. Willing lay six feet from the pin in the two, which made Tolley shoot a good one, but the steady medicus sunk his putt.

It is said that Dr. Willing made a careless shot once about eight years ago.

JONES REFEREEES
Johnston and Voigt got tremendous applause whenever they appeared, and looked pleased until they discovered it was for Bobby Jones who kept up a part in the tournament by refereeing their match. Voigt, during lunch made a careful survey of Lawson Little so that he would know what he was up against before he played him in the next round.

As neither Little nor Voigt won, it looks as though he will have to arrange a consolation two some to utilize his information.

Information is rumored around that Dr. Willing practices golf four hours a day, that Lawson Little lives next door to a fairway and plays every afternoon, and next we expect to hear that Chandler Egan sleeps on a mattress stuffed with golf balls, and Harrison Johnston eats with his niblick.

LITTLE TERRIFIC FIGHTER
This match play certainly shows that the man with the strokes cannot beat a born fighter. Ouimet, who beat Ray and Vardon in the United States Open when he was sixteen, surprised everyone by showing he was some fighter himself when he worked a win out of a two down position. Little is in his element. He pitched seven long lone jointies, his head rolling from side to side. He was not yesterday, and Willing is never off so they say.

SARAZEN IN THIRD ROUND

Defending Champion Advances in Metropolitan Golf Championship

Flushing, N.Y., Sept. 6.—Gene Sarazen of Fresh Meadow, the defending champion, gained the third round of match play in the Metropolitan Golf Association championship yesterday by defeating Joe Beldale, 2 and 1, in the second round. Earlier in the day Sarazen had put out James Hines, 1 and 1, in the first round. Others who gained the third round were Johnny Farrell of Quaker Ridge, Wirtz of Elmsford, W. Kozak, North Hills; Tony Manero, unattached; George Heron, Meadowbrook, and Bol Di Buono of Bonnie Briar. Di Buono incidentally provided the biggest upset of the day in the first round when he eliminated the medalist, Bobby Cruickshank of the Progress Club.

New Orleans Evers Series For Junior Ball Championship

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 6.—The hurling and bating of little Frank Evers enabled New Orleans to whip Buffalo 18 to 9, here yesterday in the second game of the junior world series sponsored by the American Legion. Each team now has won once and the next game is scheduled for to-day. Evers, just sixteen years old, was "batted" from second base to check the Buffalo advance. He pitched seven snarling innings, allowing only three hits, and in six tries to the plate he hit safely four times and was walked twice for a perfect record. He scored three of New Orleans runs and accepted eight chances afield without a bungle.

In the crowd of 3,000 were Kansas Mountain Landis, National baseball commissioner, John Headley, president of the National League, Tom Shibe, president of the Philadelphia Athletics, and a number of other notables.

Bill Tilden Favored to Win U.S. Singles Crown

May Take Seventh Title As French Will Not Compete

Tri-color's "Big Three," Lacoste, Borotra and Cochet, Will Be Absent and Title Will Not Go To Frenchman, For First Time Since 1925; Austin, E. R. Avory and J. S. Oliff to Represent Great Britain; Tilden Is Seeded Number One.

Forest Hill, N.Y., Sept. 6.—For the first time since 1925, the U.S. tennis singles championship of the United States will go to someone other than a Frenchman. Not because France's grip on world tennis honors has started to weaken, but because not one of the tennis stars from the land of the tri-color has seen fit to enter the 1929 championship.

With the French "big three"—Lacoste, Borotra and Cochet—out of the picture, prospects were bright for William T. Tilden II of Philadelphia to capture the title for the seventh time.

Tilden, seeded first in the tournament will have no easy path to his seventh national title, but on form should dispose of the younger stars that block his way. In his half of the draw are H. W. Austin of England; Berkeley Bell of Austin, Texas; John Van Ryn of East Orange, N.J.; Tamio Abe, of Japan; German Uppmann, Cuba; and John Doe, Santa Monica, Cal., all seeded players.

Lott heads the list in the lower half with the other seeded players in his half being E. R. Avory and J. S. Oliff of England, N. J. Farquharson of South Africa, Gregory S. Mangin of Newark, Fritz Mercier of Bethlehem, Pa. and Frank Hunter.

With a field of ninety seeking the title, play in the championship will start to-morrow on the West Side tennis club's famous courts. The finals will be played a week from to-morrow.

THE HOME RUN PARADE

The entire "Big Six" programme yesterday gave way to rain, leaving the great duel for the lead between "Babe" Herman and Frank O'Doul as unsettled as ever. It was scheduled for a decision in a meeting between the Robins and the Phillies, but old man weather decreed that they should remain separated by only a small fraction of a percentage point for one more day at least.

GERMANY TO GET CHEAPER AUTOS

New York, Sept. 6.—The New York Times cable news to-day says that the Opel automobile works in Germany, controlled by General Motors Corporation of Detroit will introduce within a few months a new twenty-five-horse power car, to be sold at $450 for a five-passenger sedan. Its present smallest type is rated at twenty horse power and sells at about $600.

Bobby Jones on Golf

The average golfer usually has most of his difficulties over one department of his game. This doesn't mean that there is room for improvement in only one department, but that the others, while not perfect nor nearly so, are at least relatively satisfactory. One fellow complains that he can not use his irons, another the woods, and still another is unable to putt.

The expert player of the upper rank finds himself in an entirely different situation. His game is well-rounded, otherwise he would not be considered an expert. To-day he may drive badly, to-morrow he may be off with his irons, and the next day his putter may misbehave. It is not always that he can muster all three departments in first class working order, but he has no persistent trouble with the wood or iron clubs as a group. The expert's difficulties are found in the execution of particular shots which, for some reason, are harder for him than he others.

THEIR GREATEST TROUBLE

I believe the great majority of golfers, whose classification of itself excludes the so-called experts, have the most trouble with the wood clubs. Almost to a man the above-40 players dislike the driver and brassie, many even declining to use them at all. Especially from the fairway it is a very difficult matter for the ordinary player to elevate the ball sufficiently with the straighter-faced clubs. His hitting is neither accurate enough nor powerful enough to encourage him to wedge into the shot with confidence. Yet it is confidence more than accuracy or power that he needs. Driver and brassie shots are uniformly the easiest shots the better player has to play.

It is my opinion that, if a vote were taken among the professionals and the leading amateurs to determine the most difficult shot to play, the count would be almost equally divided between the very short pitch over a bunker and the long approach putt. These two strokes require a nicety of judgment and a delicacy in execution which exceed by far those required in any other shot in the game. A few feet more or less may mean the difference of one stroke at least and sometimes more, in either case.

GREEN SOMETIMES HARD TO JUDGE

The very long approach putt is difficult mainly because it is so hard to determine just how much force is to be put into the stroke. To be successful it must leave the ball within a yard or less of the hole, and when the distance to be traversed is sixty or seventy feet, that is a very small margin, especially if the green happens to be very keen and hard to judge. Whenever my long approach putts begin to leave the six, eight and ten footers to hole, if I inquire into the cause, I usually find that my backswing is hurried and too short. As I hit the ball there is a subconscious feeling that the stroke has not been long enough to make the necessary distance, and I give the ball a stronger rap, usually a bit nervously. I did exactly that on the eighteenth hole of my play-off with Johnny Farrell, and although I was putting up a slope, the ball finished at least twenty feet past the hole. The approach putt required a securely amble backswing, long enough so that the ball may be swept away with a smooth stroke.

This same broad arc is also helpful in playing the wee pitch. This little shot more than any other tempts the player to hurry the stroke. The sight usually seen is a club flasher quickly up and down and a ball dropping gently into the sand almost under the player's nose. The short chopping stroke is induced by a desire to put the backspin on the ball, and the player feels that he must hit firmly to produce the spin. But he will find a far greater measure of success, if he will lighten his grip on the club, and permit himself a little longer and much slower backswing.

Gripping the club less firmly permits a freer wrist and forearm action, with which to flick the ball across the intervening hazard. The shot is always a dangerous one, but it is certainly one of the prettiest in the game when executed properly.

Queen's Rugby Coach—By Jimmy Thompson

Harry Lee "Red" Bastone, new mentor for Queen's senior rugby team, starts his coaching career with a wonderful record of achievements on the rugby field behind him, and it is doubtful if any rugby coach ever was as popular as the sorrel-topped backfield artist. Barred from active playing by the four-year rule, Bastone has for the past two years given of his rugby knowledge to the Tri-color and a few days ago he was chosen to lead the Queen's hopefuls in the quest for the senior college championship. Bastone has been a wonderful rugby player for many years. Few rugby fans will forget his remarkable backfield work for the Toronto Argonauts in 1921 when they won the Dominion championship and when it was said that Bastone "made" Lionel Conacher. The next year he entered Queen's, and for four straight years the college crown came to Queen's. Bastone's work brought "Pep" Leadley along until the latter developed into one of the greatest stars of the game. And now he is going out on the gridiron as a coach. The best wishes of thousands of fans will be with him when he leads his team into the first game.

Beaten Pirates At Last Shatter Jinx Held by "Red" Lucas

For Past Two Years Star Hurler of Cincinnati Reds Has Proved Unbeatable to Pittsburgh; Corsairs Trounced Him Again Yesterday After Having Bested "Red" In Twelve Innings Sunday; Cleveland Beats Detroit to Strengthen Hold on Third Place in American.

In a season that has seen their championship hopes blown to the four winds by a series of injuries, the Pittsburgh Pirates at last can look with pride upon the fact that they finally have shaken the "Lucas jinx." Ever since June, 1927, Pirate teams have rolled over and played dead whenever Red Lucas, star pitcher of the Cincinnati Reds, was in the box against them. Last Sunday, however, they managed to best the "Big Redhead" in a twelve-inning thriller, 9-7.

Yesterday they demonstrated that the "Red Ace" no longer can boast of his spell over them, for they trounced him, 10-5, in the only National League game of the day. The Reds hammered Brame, Pirate right-hander, for four hits and three runs in the first inning and apparently had the game won with Lucas in the box. The Corsairs submitted, however, in the first two innings, but slugged out a home run, a double, three triples, two singles and, with the aid of a wild throw, scored seven runs in the fifth and then scored three in the sixth, only to see them washed out of the score book when rain caused postponement of the game, and the score reverted to the fifth inning. Ken Holmby held Detroit to two hits. The victory enabled Cleveland to increase its margin over fourth-place St. Louis to two and one-half games.

PITCHES BRILLIANTLY
Brame, after his shaky start, settled down and pitched brilliantly until the ninth, when an error and Pinch Hitter Walker's triple were the high spots of two-run rally by the Reds.
The victory placed Pittsburgh twelve and one-half games behind the league-leading Chicago Cubs.
In the only American League game of the day, Cleveland strengthened its hold on third place by bouncing Detroit for a 4-0 loss in a game halted by rain after five innings of play. The Indians pounded Phil Page for three runs in the first inning, one more in the fifth and then scored three in the sixth, only to see them washed out of the score book when rain caused postponement of the game, and the score reverted to the fifth inning. Ken Holmby held Detroit to two hits. The victory enabled Cleveland to increase its margin over fourth-place St. Louis to two and one-half games.

Plan Whole Day's Menu in Advance
By SISTER MARY
The woman who serves simple, wholesome meals to her family day by day does much to insure their general good health. The whole day's menu should be planned in advance, each meal being considered singly and also as a part of the three in order that a balanced diet shall be maintained.

The following menu is inexpensive but varied and interesting. It is reasonable for this time of year, but canned fruit and vegetables could be substituted for winter use.
Breakfast—Ripe pears, ready-to-serve cereal, cream, scrambled eggs with dried beef, crisp toast, milk, coffee.
Luncheon—Casseroles of vegetables, brown bread, cottage cheese, nut cookies, lemonade.
Dinner—Rolled flank of beef, ten-minute cabbage, banana and tomato salad, steamed elderberry pudding, milk, coffee.

STEAMED ELDERBERRY PUDDING
One cup molasses, ½ teaspoon soda, 1½ cups flour, ½ teaspoon grated nutmeg, 1½ teaspoons baking powder, 2 cups shelled elderberries, 2 tablespoons melted butter, 1 egg, ¾ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon vinegar, ½ teaspoon salt.
Dissolve soda in a little warm water and stir into molasses. Add flour mixed and sifted with sugar, salt, baking powder and nutmeg. Mix until perfectly smooth and add berries, vinegar, melted butter. Stir well and add egg beaten until very light. Turn into a well-buttered mould and steam three hours. Serve warm with lemon sauce.

Contrary Cake
When a cake sticks to the pan, dip the bottom and sides of the pan in hot water and the cake will be loosened.

Fifty cents at all druggists. It costs you nothing if you do not benefit. After using two boxes of "Sotha-Salva," if you are not satisfied, just return the empty tins to Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa, Ont., and we will refund your money. (Adv.)

EXPORT CEDAR LOGS TO JAPAN

Abernethy-Lougheed Company at Stave Lake Gets Another Extension

Export of cedar logs from the Abernethy-Lougheed Logging Company camp at Stave Lake in the B.C. Railway belt will continue for another six months under a Dominion order-in-council, notice of which has just been received in Victoria.

Logs have been exported from the camp since June, 1925, and orders-in-council passed from time to time have granted permission to continue shipments. The order-in-council stated that the privilege has been of benefit to the company and is working out to the satisfaction of the local merchants, as it enables a large quantity of low-grade cedar to be taken from the booms which is not in demand locally. The logs are exported to the Japanese market only. The order also states that mills in the district must be first given an opportunity of acquiring any portion of the cut that may be required for manufacturing locally.

Happy Valley School Opens New Addition

J. W. Gibson of the Department of Education officiated at the opening of the addition to Happy Valley School on Wednesday afternoon.

He congratulated the board on the fine addition, but urged better playground conditions for games and sports. A. Hankin, secretary of the School Board, as chairman, told the audience increased attendance had required the addition, the old part of the school having been erected seventeen years ago.

Trustee M. A. Morrow spoke briefly of the twelve years of service by the secretary, Mr. Hankin, who had shouldered great responsibility regarding the erection of the addition. Mr. Morrow addressed the pupils on their responsibilities as the rising generation.

Brief addresses were also delivered by Mrs. Mary Cooper, a native daughter and resident of Vancouver Island for twenty-six years; Mrs. David Welch, president of the Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute; Miss Kelly, public health nurse in the district; A. Matthews, principal Happy Valley School; and Mrs. J. M. Kipling, teacher of the junior grades.

Visitors from Seattle, Victoria and Colwood were present in addition to a large number of residents of the district.

Colwood

The opening meeting of the Colwood Optimists will be held at Nightingale, Saturday, September 7, at 8 p.m. A programme for year's work will be drawn up. It is hoped for a good attendance.

The W.A. to St. John's Church will hold their September meeting Wednesday, September 11 at 2.30 p.m. in Colwood Hall.

Rev. George Pringle to Address Gathering Next Tuesday

The Victoria Group of Toc H will hold its first guest night of the autumn season next Tuesday evening.

Rev. George Pringle, who worked for many years in the Yukon Territory and the lumber camps along the coast of British Columbia, will address the group on "Tillucums of the Trail." Mr. Pringle is an honorary Toc H padre for British Columbia, and the Victoria Group is looking forward to his first visit since he has settled in this city. Rev. Mr. Pringle is the author of the well-known book "Tillucums of the Trail," retelling stories told by him in France during his service there as an army chaplain. This book has proved so popular that he has been asked by the publishers to prepare another book for publication. The Toc H headquarters are situated on the top floor of the Board of Trade Building, 521 Bastion Street.

Salt Spring

The funeral of the late Steven Carter, who died in Victoria on August 28, took place on Saturday from the United Church, Ganges, Rev. George Dean officiating. The hymns were: "Bands of Time Are Sinking," and "Now the Day of Toil is Done." Interment was at the Central Settlement Cemetery, pallbearers being Messrs. L. G. Tolson, W. M. Mout, A. R. Bittancourt, A. W. Drake, W. A. McAlfee and Geoffrey Beddis. The late Mr. Carter, who was in his eighty-third year, was a native of Leicester-shire, England. He came to Salt Spring in 1908, when he settled at Ganges. For the last year or two he has been making his home in Victoria with his daughter, Mrs. H. F. Shade, who, with her two children, Byron and Betty, survive him. His wife predeceased him by twelve years.

Metchisin

The regular meeting of the Metchisin Women's Institute was held at the Hall on Wednesday afternoon with the president occupying the chair and a small attendance. The correspondence included letters from the Queen Alexandra Soldiers' Home, giving information regarding the progress of the work now being carried on among the little patients and the expansion of the Otha Scott fund. A cheque was received from Dr. H. E. Young in payment of the grant given by the Department of Health for the Health Exhibit displayed at the spring flower show of the Institute.

Plans were made for the pioneer dance which will be held on October 25 at Metchisin Hall, in commemoration of the twentieth anniversary of the organization of the Metchisin Women's Institute. The Lieut. Governor, Hon. R. B. Bruce hopes to be able to be present on this occasion. The dance will be preceded by a concert and Mrs. Wilfrid Ord, of the Victoria School of Expression, has kindly promised to assist. There will also be an exhibition of fancy dancing. Any funds left over after expenses are paid will be used for finishing the work on the stage and cleaning and redecorating the committee room and kitchen. A handsome wear-ever aluminum casserole will be raffled. At the close of the meeting, afternoon tea was served by Mrs. Witty. Mrs. G. F. Weir has returned home after spending the summer visiting relatives in England. Mrs. Winslow and family have returned to town after spending two months in the summer home of Mrs. Leeming. Miss Nade-Warn has been visiting Mrs. Clery.

Miss Jean Shenfield, R.N., and Miss L. Barre, R.N., of Innisfail, Alberta, left for Alaska. Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Winter and family are leaving for their home in Vancouver after having spent the summer months at their cottage here. Mr. and Mrs. Clery have returned to town. Mr. and Mrs. H. Jordan have returned to their home on the Quarantine Road, and have as their guest Mrs. Jordan's sister, Mrs. Jones from New Orleans.

The Modern Mother

gets her oldest wish—

Progressive laundries give her leisure for the business of making a home

THE WISE WOMAN—the modern mother—has found a plan that leaves her free for the business of making a home.

The new-fashioned woman has banished old-fashioned washday. She knows that not only does this drudgery rob her of precious time; but the back-breaking work takes an added toll, the one thing she must not surrender—YOUTH.

For this is the day when every woman must stay young in mind and manner, regardless of the story the calendar tells.

Washday is a nuisance no longer necessary. It leaves nothing to show for frenzied hours—nothing but the prospect of another washday next week.

But millions of women whose problems are very much like yours, have found freedom by turning to the modern power laundry.

Ask about the laundry service that exactly meets your needs. And begin at once to profit by this day of leisure.

Atkinson, Minister of Agriculture, will officiate. An excellent display of flowers, fruit and vegetables will be on hand. The exhibition, Councilor J. McK. Peterson will present prizes at 8 o'clock. This will be followed by an auction sale of exhibits. Refreshments will be provided.

Tests are being carried out by the city with a new type of asphalt paving which will be laid to-morrow. It is an emulsion of asphalt in water, in which setting takes place as the water dries out. Tests are being made by the city and the department at Herald and Store Streets with materials furnished free by a Granville Island paving concern. Other tests are to be made in front of the City Hall of the material as a preservative for wooden block surfaces.

Development of tentative plans for radio-telephone links with the industries of the west coast of Vancouver Island must wait on the result of trial of the new installation being erected by George H. Halse, chairman of the board of the British Columbia Telephone Company Limited, announced yesterday, upon returning from inspection of the needs of the West Coast points unsuited to radio reception while other points near Australian stations and the Byrd Antarctic expedition with ease.

Permit to cover the erection of a Carmichael at 1025 Port Street, taken out at the City Hall this week for work estimated to cost in the neighborhood of $7,500. The building will be of the old English cottage style, with high vaulted roof, with show-rooms at the Port Street side, and a repair shop on Mears Street, at the rear. Plans were prepared by Spurgeon and Somers, and the work is being carried out by H. R. Brown. The plant is being carried out by the city.

An honorary membership in the Victoria branch of the Royal Society of St. George's for distinguished services to the Empire was presented to Mr. Churchill at Government House this morning by President H. Langley and Vice-president John Harvey.

In accepting Mr. Churchill expressed his thanks for the honor and the kindness feeling which he had evidenced throughout his Canadian tour. He said he was impressed with the trip and extended his greetings and hearty thanks to members of the local branch for remembering him with membership in their society.

During the afternoon Mr. Churchill was conducted over the new Church of St. George's.

The British statesman and his party are leaving by the 4.30 o'clock boat this afternoon for Seattle.

FIRE STILL MENACES IN SOOKE AREA

Rangers Hope For Calm Air to Keep Humpback Blaze Under Control

Fire on Site of Big Conflagration of Last Year; Burns Cordwood

After an all-night fight by a force of forty men, the fire outbreak in the Humpback area, off the Sooke Road, was brought under control this morning, and barring a high wind, will occasion little more damage, according to F. A. MacDonald, assistant forester, who returned from the scene early this afternoon.

Separate blazes on each side of the Humpback Road are being fought. Mr. MacDonald said. The first outbreak was on the south side of the road and spread rapidly when a pile of stacked cordwood caught fire. The flames caught hold of new growth on the area burned over during a big fire last year.

During the night the fire jumped across the road and spread westward to the Sooke Road, where, to a certain degree, it endangered motorists today. While the first blaze is now sufficiently under control to practically eliminate any danger, every precaution is being made to prevent any further spread of the second fire, which, in the event of a wind, might assume huge proportions.

BROKE OUT YESTERDAY
The fire on the south side has been burning since yesterday afternoon and all night crews were engaged in combating the flames. No serious injuries have been sustained by the firefighting forces as far as could be learned.

A small brush blaze just off the Island Highway, near Langford, renewed traffic yesterday afternoon, but was soon checked by a crew under Assistant Fire Ranger F. Dunn. The blaze started in the property of Sydney Brown, and, spreading rapidly, threatened several dwelling houses and a chicken ranch in the neighborhood. Nearby residents fled in panic, and joined in fighting the flames which were subdued toward evening.

TYPOGRAPHERS TO VISIT THIS CITY SUNDAY

Party of Over 1,000 Will Come Here on Special Steamer

Local Branch of Union Plans Entertainment For Visitors

Accompanied by their ladies, upwards of 1,000 delegates to the annual convention of the International Typographical Union, will be at Seattle, will spend one day in Victoria as the guests of the Victoria Typographical Union, Local 301.

The visitors will come by special boat, the S. Princess Adelaide, from Seattle on Sunday and will land here at 12.30 o'clock in the afternoon.

The party will be met by the Victoria Typographical Union at the Victoria Hotel, where they will assemble at the Parliament Building grounds for a group photograph. This will be followed by a band concert and a drive to Butchart's Gardens.

At 6 o'clock an evening banquet will be held at the Empress Hotel, after which the delegates will rejoin their boat and return to Seattle. Arrangements for the reception and entertainment of the guests are under the care of the Canada Day Committee in conjunction with the Victoria Typographical Union.

CHURCHILL SEES MALAHAT DRIVE

Accepts Membership in Royal Society of St. George and Visits Cathedral

British Statesman and Friends Leave This Afternoon For Seattle

Impressions of Vancouver Island were gained this morning by the Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, ex-Chancellor of the British Exchequer, when he arrived with his party over the Malahat Highway.

The drive was made in the Lieutenant-Governor's car, the party returning in time for lunch at Government House.

An honorary membership in the Victoria branch of the Royal Society of St. George's for distinguished services to the Empire was presented to Mr. Churchill at Government House this morning by President H. Langley and Vice-president John Harvey.

In accepting Mr. Churchill expressed his thanks for the honor and the kindness feeling which he had evidenced throughout his Canadian tour. ## Will String Power Wires Next Week

Erection of poles and stringing of power wires northward, along the Island Highway, from Humberston to serve Cobble Hill, Shawnigan Lake and adjacent territory, will be commenced next week by the British Columbia Electric Railway Company Limited. The gang setting the poles in place will also string the wires.

Reels of wire will be placed along the pole route early next week. Poles have already been distributed along much of the route and many of the holes have been dug.

It is expected that power and light service will be available in Shawnigan and Cobble Hill before the end of October.

AIR SCHEDULE TO VANCOUVER IS RELEASED

Alaska-Washington Airways Will Start Operations Late Next Week

New Plane Now in Seattle Awaiting Pontoon; Nanaimo to Be Linked Up

Vancouver Island will have a three-way double daily air service to mainland points towards the latter part of next week when the Alaska-Washington Airways will put a second Fairchild airplane into service, flying up Victoria, Nanaimo and Vancouver with the existing Victoria-Seattle air route.

Alex. Holden, well-known in this city, will initiate the second service as pilot in the big seven-seater Fairchild machine which is now standing by at Seattle, where pontoons will arrive shortly to be fitted to the Victoria-Vancouver air route is doubly interesting because it will link up with the Seattle-Victoria service with an interchange of passengers.

Nanaimo, incidentally, will benefit by a double return trip from Vancouver daily, having two Island centres to be linked to two Mainland cities when the schedule is put into effect. In addition to the twice daily return service now in effect between Victoria and Seattle, the additional schedule to the second seaplane will be as follows:

Leave Vancouver 8 a.m., arriving Nanaimo 8.20 a.m.
Leave Nanaimo 9.30 a.m., arriving Victoria 9.45 a.m.
Leave Victoria 10 a.m., arriving Vancouver 10.45 a.m.
Leave Victoria 10 a.m., arriving Vancouver 10.45 a.m.
Leave Vancouver 2 p.m., arriving Nanaimo 2.20 p.m.
Leave Nanaimo 3.30 p.m., arriving Vancouver 2.50 p.m.
Leave Vancouver 3 p.m., arriving Victoria 3.45 p.m.
Leave Victoria 4 p.m., arriving Vancouver 4.45 p.m.

H. B. Olsen, agent here for the Alaska-Washington Airways, in making the announcement, stated to-day that the Alaska-Washington Airways had connected with Seattle aeroplanes there for a transfer of through passengers.

BY-LAW UPHOLD

Upholding the city by-law providing that attendants of hired vehicles must not stand more than six feet away while they are on the stand, Acting Magistrate C. J. Prior to-day ruled for a conviction in the case of Wesley Strickland, charged with this offence. A fine of $20 was imposed. The by-law was attacked by F. Elliott, defence counsel, in moving for a dismissal.

Kumtaka Club—The Kumtaka Club will hold a luncheon at David Speer's on Monday at noon, when all members are asked to attend.

YOUTH FACES PRISON TERM FOR THEFTS

Six-month Sentence Imposed on Samuel Smithers, Vancouver Boy

Pleads Guilty to Four Charges in Police Court; Goods Recovered

Several minor thefts from apartment houses in the city were cleared up with the arraignment in City Police Court this morning of Samuel Smithers on four separate charges. He pleaded guilty on each count, and was sentenced to serve six months' imprisonment by Acting Magistrate C. J. Prior.

Smithers, a nineteen-year-old youth from North Vancouver, was apprehended by Detective Marcus T. Phipps, who told the court the accused had been in the city on and off for the last four months, and had lately taken to entering apartments and then selling his loot to second-hand stores for small sums.

Smithers stated, before sentence was passed, that he had come over here to join the Royal Canadian Artillery. He had been unable to get along with his step-family in Vancouver, he said.

The stolen articles on which he was charged were:
One portable typewriter, the property of H. S. Davies, on September 31.
One wrist watch, the property of William Platerm, on August 31.
One gold pendant and two rings, the property of Miss Peggy Bailey, on August 26.
One suit of clothes, the property of Harry Edwards, on September 1.

These articles were all recovered by detectives.

CLIMB LADDER TO SUCCESS, SAYS J. CARL PENDRAY

Successful Business Man Comes From Ranks, Former Mayor Says

People Should Be Freer With Praise and Not So Critical, He Thinks

The Victoria Rotary Club to-day entertained their Rotarians at luncheon in the Empress Hotel. The ladies enjoyed a diversified programme.

J. Carl Pendray, former mayor of Victoria, was the chief speaker, taking as his subject "The Building of an Executive Within an Organization."

The average successful business man of to-day started out looking for a job, said Mr. Pendray. His aim was not to find out the various angles of his job but was to make good in the thing he secured. When he succeeded, he was a man who had worked steadily since from outside.

"I am not opposed to unions. They have become necessary for the protection of labor," he said.

Increased wages did not always get the best results of workers but appreciation and praise from an executive drew big dividends.

"We are always free with criticism. Let us be a little more free with praise," he said.

Mr. Pendray recalled his term in the mayoralty, declaring he would have figuratively "dropped dead" if he had been "congratulated."

"Give your mayor some encouragement once in a while. He is doing his best for the city," he declared.

Mr. Pendray spoke a few words of praise for the Victoria Police Department, recalling the career of Chief Fry who had risen from the ranks. The department could now compete with that of any city because each man on the force wished to see John Fry make good, he added.

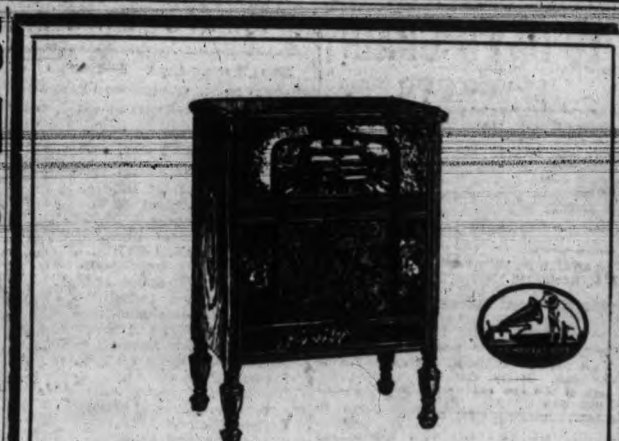

Mr. and Mrs. John Trumble and Mr. and Mrs. Mott Sawyer of the Port Angeles Rotary spoke a few words at the luncheon.

Mr. Sawyer spoke the guests comparing the clubs of Victoria and Port Angeles. He extended an invitation to the local club to visit the United States city next summer.

P. B. Scuprah briefly sketched the visit of some of the Victoria club members to Port Angeles last Wednesday, saying the delegation had enjoyed a very delightful outing.

An invitation from the Social Service League to attend the Sunshine Camp for Sooke was read by the chairman, Alfred Carmichael.

Community singing, led by Herbert Kent, was a feature of the programme.

DOROTHY DIX

A CORRESPONDENT asks: "Why do girls marry? Oh, mainly because Nature intended them to, and every woman has an instinctive yearning for her children and her home. But aside from that there are many reasons why girls marry, even when they have no particular affection for the men they are marrying, and when even a blind woman should be able to see that they are not bettering their lot by marrying."

They marry because home conditions are unpleasant and they are tired of family spats and of noisy, grubby little brothers and sisters, and of being bossed by father and nagged at by mother. They want freedom and they are under the delusion that when they get their own home they will have perfect liberty to do exactly as they please and come in at any old hour that they feel like. They think that their husbands will never cross them in any way, or deny them anything they want; that there will never be any family arguments because everybody will agree with them, and that if they should have children they will be little cherubs who will always have on clean white frocks with blue ribbon bows on their curls and never give the slightest trouble.

Girls marry for the same reason that they bob their hair and wear knee-length skirts and paint their lips. Because all the other girls are doing it. Sally and Maud and Ethel have got married and it makes Mamie and Susie feel sort of left out of things not to be married, too. It is like not even having a flivver and trying to run around with an automobile crowd. Besides, the married girls give themselves airs with their talk of "my husband," "my home," and they assume a condescending attitude toward the unmarried that is not to be borne, so Mamie and Susie get married just to be in the running.

Girls get married because they want to quit work. Lord save the mark! They are tired of punching the time clock in an office or factory, tired of pounding a typewriter or standing behind a counter, and they think that if they get married they can be abed of a morning and spend the afternoons playing bridge or going to the movies or shopping, and that, somehow, all of the housework will be automatically done, and, if it isn't, they should worry.

Of course, they find out later on that they have to work about ten times harder in their own homes than they ever did out of them; that they have to get up an hour earlier in order to get the breakfast and husband off to work and the baby fed and the children ready for school. But that is one of the little surprise packages that matrimony hands a woman.

Girls get married because their families badger them into it. When a girl gets around to three or twenty-four years old, her mother is generally as anxious to push her out of the home nest as an old bird is to get rid of her fledglings.

Even if the girl is self-supporting it doesn't make any difference. Mother feels it, somehow, a reflection on her for her daughters not to marry. She begins wondering why it is that men don't find Mary attractive and telling Kate that she will put it off too long and warning Janie that she is too particular and praising up this man and that man to the girls until finally they marry in self-defence.

Girls marry to keep from being old maids. They have an idea that there is something opprobrious in the term and that old maids are held in a certain contempt. They think that if they do not marry it is an indication that they so lacked in feminine charm and grace that they were passed over by all men as undesirable. Their vanity cannot endure this and so they will marry any sort of a stick of a man rather than remain single.

Girls marry through sympathy, particularly if they are of the young type who can't marry when they are older and they think they may regret it when it is too late. They are afraid they might miss something if they don't get married. They are afraid they might be lonesome when they are forty or fifty years old and so they will marry even a man who bores them when they are young so that they may have his company when they are old.

Girls marry because they are bored. Rich girls are particularly prone to marry for this reason. They get sick and tired of going to parties and running about from pleasure resort to pleasure resort. Their lives have no meaning. They have nothing worth while to do. Their only occupation is killing time and so they marry to try to put some purpose into existence, and to have something definite and practical with which to occupy their idle hands and brains.

Girls marry through sympathy, particularly if they are of the maternal type. Some chap who is sick needs a nurse, or some weakling who needs a backbone appeals to their pity and they take on a life job of caring for him. Or else they have the reform complex and marry drunkards or rouses because they believe that they can lift them up to the higher life.

Oh, girls marry for many reasons besides being in love, and that is why there are so many disastrous marriages that end in divorce. For it is only love that stands the strain of everyday living with a man and putting up with all of his peculiarities.

To-morrow's Horoscope

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 7, 1929

Happy auspices rule this day, which ought to bring success and joy to dwellers upon earth.

This is another day in which it is better to plan than to act. Conferences and special meetings are under the best direction.

Under this way whatever pertains to oil and oil interests should benefit. Something unexpected may cause sudden fluctuations of stock.

It is read as a lucky day to start ocean journeys and homeward voyages should be enjoyable.

The seers counsel business men and women to delay business anything important. Initiative to-day may mean futile effort.

Women should wait on opportunity to-day and should be patient in making preparations for future work.

The day is not especially lucky for theatres or for actors, as there may be uncertainty and disappointment attending new plays and those employed in them.

All who are engaged in big constructive tasks should benefit to a certain extent while this planetary government continues.

This is a day more profitable for builders and contractors than for land-owners.

Again the seers foretell unrest and discontent among workers who should take heart from the good promises read in the stars.

The evening and afternoon hours are favorable for newspapers and important reports by wire from overseas are foretold.

Writers of every class should prosper as the autumn advances, for there will be much demand for their work, it is forecast.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have a year crowded with varied experiences. Many problems may be presented for wise decision.

Children born on this day have possibilities of mind and character that promise a successful life. Many subjects of this class.

Queen Elizabeth of England was born on this date, 1833. Others who have had it as a birthday include Thomas A. Hendricks, 1819.
